

Workshop G9T4 - There's no accounting for tastes

TIMING

15'	15'	Activity 1 – Let's go on a bus ride!
30'	45'	Activity 2 – The adventures of Sirenito
30'	75'	Activity 3 – Nothing changes
10'	85'	Activity 4 – What can I take away from this?
5'	90'	Activity 5 – Publishing our impressions

DESCRIPTION OF ACTIVITIES

Workshop objectives	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. Recognize the importance of respect (towards ourselves and towards others). Gain an understanding of diversity to avoid discriminating against others because of their sexual identity.</li> <li>2. Expand the concept of sexuality; deconstruct the direct relationship between gender and sexuality.</li> </ol>
Before starting this workshop	Before starting the workshop, if we're completing the entire guide, we should ask students what they remember from the last workshop, what they thought about it or if there's anything they want to say. We can ask them if they want to guess at what we'll be discussing today based on the workshop title, "There's no accounting for tastes". The title is a play on words that refers to the fact that when it comes to sexual and affectionate orientation, our choices are personal and extremely diverse. We should accept any contributions and then begin the workshop to see if anyone guessed correctly.
Activity 1	Let's go on a bus ride! (15') An activating activity involving movement.
Activity 2	The adventures of Sirenito (30') Video and dynamic reflection.
Activity 3	Nothing changes (30') Roleplaying game.
Activity 4	What can I take away from this? (10')
Activity 5	Let's publish our impressions (5')

NOTE: this document is a summary of how to complete the workshop. You'll find a detailed description of the activities and any additional information in the workshop file.